Ambulance Dispatch Service for MS Access is a database template designed to ease emergency calls and vehicle maintenance. It has been tested to be compatible with Access 2010. The template is the result of several hours of programming and data entry, plus some trial and error. It includes a database with an excel-like layout, where the database consists of several tables, including a main one containing information about the calls. When an emergency call is received, the dispatch module automatically checks the tables, and if the call is found, it is assigned to the closest available unit, which is then dispatched to the caller's location. If there is no available unit, it will call for an ambulance from our database of vehicles, or send a message to our central station. When an ambulance is dispatched to the caller, it automatically checks whether there are any ongoing vehicle maintenance operations within the called location, and according to their status, it will schedule them. If a vehicle is available, it will be towed or repaired, depending on the call status. When a vehicle is being towed, its location can be set by the user, and it will automatically be found. After an ambulance or vehicle completes its work, it will automatically move to a maintenance log, and a report will be automatically generated with details. When all operations are completed, the report can be generated, showing the data entered.
